Course Description

Divorced and remarried families are now a North American cultural norm. This course focuses on understanding these complex families from sociocultural, developmental, theological, and family process perspectives. The course will focus on effective models of family therapy and congregational care for divorced and remarried individuals and families.

Multicultural Therapy Definition: Multicultur	rol Thereny according to D. W. Sue	and Tarina (2005 n 2) " aan ha

Multicultural Therapy Definition: Multicultural Therapy, according to D. W. Sue and Torino (2005, p 3) "...can be defined as both a helping role and process that uses modalities and defines goals consistent with the life experiences and cultural values of clients, recognizes client identities to include individual, group, and universal dimensions, advocates the use of universal and culture-specific strategies and roles in the healing process, and balances the importance of individualism and collectivism in the assessment, diagnosis, and treatment of client and client systems." Multicultural competence as a therapist includes: (1) therapist awareness of personal assumptions, values and biases, (2) understanding the worldview of diverse clients, and (3) facility with appropriate strategies and interventions consistent with the life experiences and values of culturally different clients. (Sue & Sue 2008)

Evidence-based Practice Definition: EBP is a "...practice-friendly approach to using research to enhance family therapy" (Gehard, 2010, 133). This approach looks to research to help clinicians make decisions in therapy about care for individual clients, couples and families. Evidence-based practice will (1) look to research for information about what treatments are most effective for specific problems, (2) critically examine that research for its validity and applicability to specific cases, and (3) evaluate how effective a selected method is for specific clients, couples and families (for example, using the ORS/SRS).

Requirements

1. Class Discussion Leadership (20%)

Each participant will work with a partner to prepare a class presentation addressing one of the class topics designated in the class schedule. Leaders for the day will be expected to:

- Provide an outline material to be presented.
- Be creative, interactive and engage the class in critical discussion/analysis. (See grading rubric for assignment for more details)

2. Literature Review (30%) Due March 27

- Select an area of therapeutic (or pastoral care) concern you might experience in practice (for instance children's grief in divorce; the effect of post-divorce parental conflict on children, integrating a new parent into a formerly single-parent family, remarried couple conflict, etc.),
- Conduct a literature review (relevant books, articles, etc.) to investigate this issue/problem (focus on understanding the dynamics, systemic ramifications, interaction with cultural factors, and on implications for practice Be sure to attend carefully to multicultural factors such as gender, race, class, sexual orientation, etc.).
- Write a 7-10 page summary of what you learned about theory and practice from the literature review.
- Write a 2 page theological analysis/reflection about this issue and what you have learned from your study. See rubric for more details.

3. Interactive Interview (20% of grade) Due April 17

- Recruit a conversation partner who is divorced, divorcing, has been divorced, or is remarried.
- Show your conversation partner the informed consent form, explain it to them and ask them to sign it.
- Talk to your conversation partner about their experience with careful attention to:
 - o Emotional processes,

- o Legal processes,
- o Feelings about the experience they had (or are having),
- o Impact on others (friends, family, children, etc.),
- o Interaction of cultural, ethnic, gendered, sexual orientation issues,
- What they wished counselors and pastors knew about divorce and/or remarriage.
- Other things you feel are relevant without intruding on the interviewee's boundaries of privacy.
- Write a 5 page summary of your experience and what you learned from your conversation about divorced and remarried families.
 - Be sure to use concrete examples, but protect your interviewee's confidentiality.
 - Include a concluding section that specifies (1) what you learned about therapy or pastoral care with divorced, divorcing or remarried couples; (2) religious, spiritual and theological concerns, issues or insights that were highlighted by the interview.
- 4. Final Position Paper "A multicultural and interreligious theological/spiritual frame for care of divorced and remarried families."
- 5. Case Study (30% of grade) Due Last Day of Finals

Follow directions in attached rubric. Complete your case study with the following steps:

- Do one of the following
 - o If you are in practicum, select a client with whom you are working around divorce and remarriage issues to complete the case study. Be ABSOLUTELY SURE you follow all informed consent rules required by practicum policies and that you protect your client by using pseudonyms, etc.
 - o If you are not in practicum, enlist volunteers to role play one of the client problems provide in class vignettes (distributed later in semester).
- Conduct and videotape (or digitally record) a 30-50 minute counseling session with the client(s). If you are using a vignette, the "client(s)" will role play seeking help from you for the problem described in the vignette you choose. Note that your client must be free to improvise and develop this problem as fits them. It will be your job to be a good counselor for the client(s).
- A. At the end of one session, talk with your client(s). Ask them:
 - a. How well you "connected" with them.
 - b. How well you understood their "problem."
 - c. How you did with keeping conversation going using open ended questions, summaries, paraphrases, and your body language.
 - d. How well and appropriately were you able to respond to their concerns and any spiritual/religious dimensions to their concerns.

- e. Did they feel the session was helpful?
- f. Would they come back to see you after the first session?
- g. Write a brief summary of the feedback you received.
- B. After the session, review the videotape/digital recording. After watching yourself on the recording. Write a critical analysis of what you did well, what you think you accomplished in the session, and what you would do differently for the next session with particular attention to:
 - a. Joining with the client(s) and facilitating the session,
 - b. How you addressed and managed issues related to your study of divorced and remarried families,
 - c. Attention to cultural, sexual, gender, race, and other diversity issues,
 - d. Identifying, clarifying, or working on goals.
- C. The final step of the case study is a case analysis and write-up. See case study guide at the end of the syllabus. You may also find "How to Write an Intake Evaluation and Case Study" (posted on CAMS) helpful.
- D. Case study--what to turn in for a grade:
 - a. Your video recording
 - b. Summary of what client's feedback
 - c. Your own written analysis of your work as observed on video
 - d. Case analysis/assessment (no more than 5 pages)
