

Permission to Record, Post, and Archive Sermons or Other Addresses Delivered on Campus by LPTS Faculty

Revised 10/03/2006

Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary wishes to make digital audio recordings of sermons and other addresses delivered on campus by members of its faculty for the purpose of (1) posting them on its website and (2) archiving them in the Ernest Miller White Library for historical preservation and educational use. Since faculty may choose sometimes to deliver sermons or other addresses on campus that they feel should not be made public in this way, the Seminary will make recordings only when this form has been completed, signed, and returned in advance.

I, the undersigned, give my permission for LPTS to record, post, and archive my sermon or address, delivered on _____ (date).

Name of faculty member (please print): _____

Signature of faculty member: _____

Date of signature: _____

Acknowledgement

The Seminary recognizes that a faculty member, as the author of a sermon or address, retains the copyright and may later publish the sermon or address in another venue. If such publication requires the author to surrender the copyright to the publisher, LPTS agrees to remove the material from its website upon notification.
